"REMEMBER THE MAINE."

THE SUN AND THE PEOPLE. The people of Paducah appreciate a live newspaper. This has been strikingly proven during the past two months by the remarkable increase in the Sun's circulation. Since the war news became the leading feature of the current news, and because of such a nature that the people demanded and must have the latest and most current information, the popularity of the Sun has wonderfully increased. As is attested by that index the size of its list of subscribers.

The Sun's war news report is unsurpassed if equaled by any paper in the city. It publishes no fakes and its service is absolutely reliable. As the Sun has spared no expense in the past it will not do so in the future. The Sun will keep abreast of the times and negotiations are now in progress which when completed will make the Sun even a better paper than it now is.

The United States has four times the population of Spain, ten times her wealth and resources and is only 100 miles from Cuba, the main seat of war, while Spain is 3,000 miles away.

The idea of appointing a descendant of General Grant to a place on the staff of General Fitzhugh Lee embodies a sentiment that is approved by the whole nation. But there is a possibility of going to an extreme in the matter of appointing one of great men of the past to honorable positions. There can be no good reason why the son of General Logan or the son of James G. Blaine should be given a position in the army only as they earn them just as any other young men less favored by parentage would have to do. The nation paid a deserved recognition to the memory of two great men, conferred a great honor to the foreign countries to which they were designated, when Robert Lincoln and Col. Fred D. Grant were appointed joint ministers to England and Austria, respectively. The son of James G. Garfield, who bears his honored father's full name, is taking the right course. He is ambitious, but is winning his own laurels and is rising as his father did, by his own merits and through the votes of his own constituents. Garfield is now a member of the Ohio state senate and is proving himself a worthy representative of his district. Give the young men a chance. In days like these, which do not come more than once in a generation, give all our young men an equal show. It is times like these that develop the latent strength of many a young man who otherwise might plod on in silence and obscurity. These are the days that bring out our heroes and illustrate fully the fact that we are a republic in which all men are in fact, as well as in theory, free and equal in the eyes of the constitution. The nation pays dearly for the experiences it undergoes in these stirring times. Let, therefore, the honors that are won and the reputations that are made be founded upon real worth, in accordance with the fundamental principles of our government.

A BRILLIANT IDEA. There is once in a while something new under the sun and especially in troublous political times like these. But it has remained for our own Congressman Wheeler to enslave the latest idea in a partisan politics. The edict has gone forth that none but Bryan-free-silver Democrats need apply to our Congressman, Mr. Wheeler, for appointment to West Point.

We are at a loss to know upon what grounds our congressman makes this remarkable decision; whether it is because he believes that a Bryan-free-silver Democrat is, ipso facto, a better patriot than a sound money Democrat, or whether he believes that the people of this district are so wedded to the principle of free silver that they have lost all sense of fairness and will judge the fitness of a man to represent them in congress

THE DEFENDERS OF OUR COUNTRY.

The "Boys" Who Are Soon to Be Uncle Sam's Soldiers.

The Roll of Honor—May Its Number Never Grow Less and All Come Back Heroes.

The work of mustering in the raducab volunteers was concluded at press time yesterday, and Capt. B. B. Davis was elected captain. The election of the other officers will take place after they go into camp, as it will then be known just how many of them are to be members of the U. S. volunteers.

It is likely that some, at least, will be rejected by the government of defective eyesight, physical disability, or some other cause. It is estimated that 15 per cent. of the Louisville Legion will be rejected. None of the boys who were mustered in yesterday will have to join the regulars at Lexington unless they so desire. They are now in the state guards, and not in the regular army. All of them are very anxious to get in the army, however, and one remarked that he was going to Cuba if he had to swim.

Capt. Davis will be presented with a fine sword by Plain City Lodge, F. and A. M., of which he is master. The order will be placed at once.

JUDGE WILLIAM R. DAY.

Chicago Times-Herald.

The position of secretary of state, made vacant by the resignation of Mr. Sherman, has been tendered by the President to Judge William R. Day. This appointment is a fitting recognition of efficient and loyal service in a position which recent events have invested with large responsibility. It is a promotion that meets with the hearty approval of the American people, not only because Judge Day has demonstrated his capacity to fill it with credit to the nation, but because it conveys assurance of harmonious agreement between the executive and the state department at a critical time.

It cannot be said that the public was unprepared for the announcement of Judge Day's promotion. It would have been a blunder to have appointed an untried man to this position. It is well known to those who have had occasion to become familiar with the affairs of this office that its active responsibilities have devolved upon Judge Day for several months past, and that Mr. Sherman has sustained purely an advisory relation to his assistant and to the President and Judge Day has handled the delicate and difficult problems growing out of our present international complications in a manner that has won the confidence and respect of every member of the cabinet and every senator and representative.

A few carping critics of the administration lay great stress upon the fact that Judge Day is a "country lawyer." This fact is urged against him as though it were reproach or a disqualification. If being a "country lawyer" had been a bar to service in the responsible positions of the government the annals of our country would have been deprived of many of its most illustrious names. The strongest men in war and in peace have been country lawyers. The country court house has contributed the brains of our diplomacy and the glory of our statecraft.

Judge Day left a law practice at Canton which brought him annually four times as much as the salary of a cabinet officer to serve his faithful and lifelong friend. He has been the trusted adviser of Mr. McKinley through all his public career and the latter has leaned upon this tried and true-hearted counselor in every important crisis in his life since he was first elected to congress in 1876. He is a lawyer of more than ordinary ability and a man of scholarly attainments. To the accomplishments of a widely read lawyer he adds the graces and the quiet reserve of a polished gentleman and the mental poise of a cool, level-headed man of affairs who has had wide contact with men.

By common agreement of the men who are in closest touch with public affairs at Washington the promotion of Judge Day to the premiership of the administration at this time is a wise and eminently appropriate act.

MATANZAS.

Matanzas is a city of about 45,000 inhabitants.

It is about 52 miles from Havana, with which it is connected by a railroad, for which reason it is a valuable point for the United States forces to hold.

The city is situated at the upper end of a bay, four miles long. This bay is defended by batteries on both sides of the harbor.

On the right of the harbor are high hills that stretch back to the Yumuri Valley.

On one shore was formerly an ancient fort, but this was replaced recently by earthworks and modern guns.

In commercial importance it ranks next to Havana. The Spanish considered it one of their most strongly fortified possessions on the island.

TOOK EVERYTHING.

Burglars Pay a Visit to Mr. Julian Greer and Take His Stock of Groceries.

The Thieves Did Not Get the Dog. Because He Was Left in the Stable—Loss, $300.

Mr. Julian Greer, the Mechanicsburg grocer, will have to lay in a new stock of goods. The stock he had this time yesterday was all disposed of in one night, and it is a thing that made Mr. Greer mad and that he did not receive any remuneration for his goods.

Some time this morning thieves entered the store, which is located on Broad street and Fourth, and carried away nearly everything he had. Entrance was gained through a window, and among the things taken were: Two barrels of flour, a large quantity of meat, several sacks of coffee, half a box of cigars, several boxes of tobacco, a large quantity of sugar, candies, canned goods, and in fact the stock was almost completely depleted. The loss is about $300, according to reports.

A burglary was discovered early this morning, when the store was opened up, and the police were notified.

The goods were hauled away in a wagon, and the wagon tracks were traced to the river bank near Island creek, indicating that the robbers were in a skiff or on a shanty boat, most probably the latter, as a skiff would not have contained the goods stolen.

The police have been busy all day investigating the case.

Mr. Greer congratulated himself on one thing, and that is the fact that he left his large bulldog in the stable last night instead of in the back end of the store, where he had been kept every night for some time until last night. If he had been left in the accustomed place Mr. Greer is sure he, too, would have been taken.

EXCURSION TOMORROW.

The Kigore Excursion to Take Place on the Woodruff.

The excursion that was to have been given on the Woodruff, J. H. Kigore & Co.'s newly improved boat, several weeks ago, will take place tomorrow afternoon without fail.

The boat will leave the landing in Mechanicsburg about 3 o'clock, and will touch at the wharf at 4 o'clock for those of the city who have been invited. There will be a band aboard and an enjoyable time is promised all who go.

The excursion is to be given the workmen at the mill, who will be on a large barge, and to a few invited friends.

The boat has been thoroughly repainted and repaired, and is one of the prettiest in the city.
